Adaptations and Habitats - Activity 6

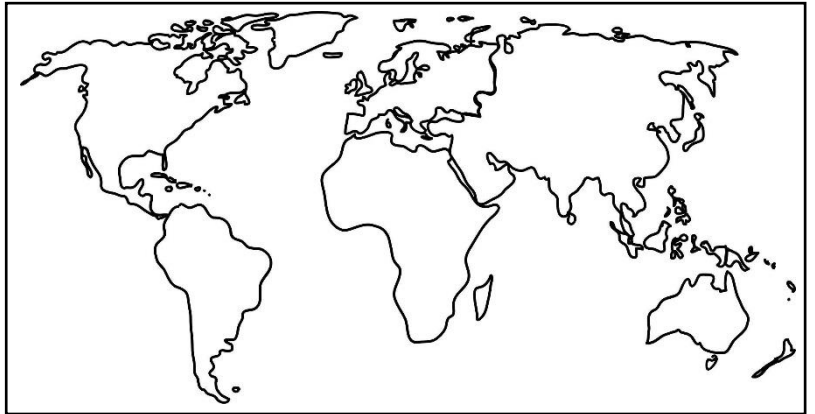

Deserts may be harsh places, but people live there too, like the San people who share the Kalahari with meerkats! There's also the Bedouin from the Middle East and many others! Humans aren't adapted to life in deserts, so how do they manage to survive? Use books and the internet to research a group of people that live in the desert.

Group of people:

Which desert do they live in?

Where is the desert?

(label it on the map).

How do they make sure they have enough water?

How do they make sure they have enough food?

How do they travel across the desert?

Is their lifestyle changing now? If so, how and why?
